CENSUSES AND SURVEYS

The Census Bureau conducts many censuses and surveys. The most well-known is the official population census of the United States, called the decennial census. It is conducted every ten years, most recently in April 2000. During each decennial census, the Census Bureau collects data from every household in the U.S. and its territories.

Besides the decennial census, the Census Bureau conducts nearly one hundred other surveys and censuses every year. By law, no one is permitted to reveal information from these censuses and surveys that could identify any person, household, or business. Individual records from each decennial census are made public 72 years after the census has been taken.

Decennial Census

The Decennial Census collects data every 10 years about households, income, education, homeownership, and more for the United States, Puerto Rico, and the Island Areas. The data is used for apportionment of the seats in the House of Representatives. more | get data

The American Community Survey (ACS)

The American Community Survey is a new nationwide survey designed to provide communities a fresh look at how they are changing. It is a critical element in the Census Bureau's reengineered 2010 census plan. more | get data

Helping You Make Informed Decisions

American FactFinder Checklist

Can I find the data I am looking for in “Population Finder,” “Fact Sheet,” “People,” or “Housing?”

If not, go to “Detailed Tables.”

➤ Which Census or Survey do you wish to work with? That is, do you want your data to come from the American Community Survey, the 1990 Decennial Census, 2000 Decennial Census, or the Estimates program?

➤ If from a Decennial Census, which Summary File do you want to work with? Short Form (Summary Files 1 and 2) or Long Form (Summary Files 3 and 4)?

➤ Do you prefer the information displayed as a table or a map?

➤ If table, what type? For example, Detailed table, Geographic Comparison Table, Quick Table, etc.

Tips:

✓ Data results (either Tables or Thematic Maps) from FactFinder can be saved in three ways. (1) As a file. (2) As a bookmark. (3) The web address can be saved (and emailed if desired).

✓ Summary Files 2 and 4 focus mainly on iterating tables based on race.

✓ Summary Files 3 and 4 specialize in variety of cross-tabulations. They contain some basic iterations of basic race.
